Successful packaging solutions right down the line.

KOCH - YOUR EXPERTS IN PACKAGING LINES

You have the challenges, we have the solutions.

At KOCH, we offer you the most reliable and versatile options for your product when you require a packaging solution that not only caters to individual needs, but also end-to-end packaging processes. You also desire a strong and professional partner on your side, who considers the overall picture right from the outset. This is the basis on which we at KOCH operate.

Our goal is not just to work towards achieving your requirements but also to communicate with your production departments to ensure the delivered system answers the day to day issues seen by manufacturing. Consequently, if you are looking for one supplier who can deliver all these services, you have come to the right place by contacting us! Welcome to the end-to-end KOCH packaging line expertise.

We supply full turnkey solutions for complete handling of your sophisticated products: from blister packaging to grouping, through final cartoning and case packing. In addition, we will develop and install highly customized fully integrated packaging lines for a wide range of industries and products – both non-food and food-industry related. Naturally, where outside OEM components and systems are required, KOCH will take full responsibility for the operation of the fully integrated system.

Your custom-made solution – your challenge and our passion all rolled into one. And what would you like us to package for you?

The KOCH difference.

Where experience is coupled with visions, the thought of “Made in Germany” stands for high quality and reliability supported by worldwide customer service and technical expertise. When dealing with KOCH, this is what you expect and will receive for your packaging solutions.

■ Blister

Ideal forms for your application. We package your product not only to ensure an optimum level of protection but also to provide an effective, transparent means of presentation inside its blister. You give us your product, we will design the perfect blister for it. Flexible and quick to retool.

■ Product handling

Your valuable product calls for high-speed and precision handling. On the basis of the specifications from your production and marketing departments, we will design a product handling concept that integrates the packaging process seamlessly into your production workflow.

■ Grouping

Whether your packages are to be grouped side by side or oriented to save space, we will supply a product grouping system to meet your needs. From shelf display cartons to POS presentations, our flexible designs will minimize setup and changeover times to better serve your customers.

■ Carton packaging

Erect the carton, fill it with the pre-grouped stacks of blister packs and close it, all in one line. We provide a one-stop shop for solutions for all interfaces. Development of concepts, designs of final systems and manufacturing of your solution is all included in our internal expertise.

■ Outer packaging

Display trays, outer shipping cartons and other case packing systems are all available tailored to your individual needs. Our designs incorporate methods to aid in real time production requirements and provide a flexible and profitable solution for our customers.

Individual requirements in the overall process.
